

Vasiliki Valantou

Vasiliki Valantou is a graduate of the Department of History, Archeology and Cultural Resources Management, of the University of the Peloponnese. Her research focuses mainly on roman pottery, investigating issues of chemical composition and manufacturing technology. She has also worked on various educational culture programmes.